Happy New Year!

Exciting events are always in store when we gather creative folks.

On Friday a new parent, Mr. Marshall, will join us to share his knowledge of simulation games and to learn more about our World Game.

Various constructions will undoubtedly be part of our simulations whether they be characters in miniature or structures or landscapes. We can expand the woodshop so all kinds of wonderful objects can be built. Anybody available to help with this?

We have four new students joining us to share their interests and backgrounds. All are very pleasant people and we look forward to having them with us.

Ben will be back after his trip to Israel. Can't wait to hear about that along with his summer on the Oregon coast.

April, who completed two Master's projects with us last year, will be here as a substitute teacher on occasion including the first seven days of school.

October 12 Conference

Please encourage any teacher, parent, or innocent bystander to attend this conference. We have a wonderful speaker, Dr. Peter Gray, who researches play, many workshops to choose from, and lunch all for only $75. The proceeds go to the Mandala Scholarship Fund.

O Camp Allegany!

Once again the children will help plan our trip and food for our four-day adventure in Allegany State Park. Please consider joining us for part or all of it, Sept. 30-Oct 3. It's great fun!

Because we have so much room, we have reached out to the homeschooling community for anyone who wants to come with us. If you know of someone who might be interested, ask them. There is a flyer we can send out. The cost to them is only $25/person including meals.
