

This week's newsletter!

Mandala has just received a million dollar donation from an anonymous donor. Tuition next year will be majorly reduced.

One of our students claims to have gone to the moon. This claim is still being investigated.

While on the hike on Friday, April 1st, the school survived a grizzly bear attack thanks to the quick thinking of the teachers. One child gone missing, named Charlie. The last known picture of him is to the left.

There were 5 birthdays in one day and 5 cakes. Multiple antiques were broken from the children's sugar rush. A bill will come in your mail for the money from the damage.

The school rabbit, Dusty, was diagnosed with rabies and has ran away and is running rabid around the village of East Aurora, so be cautious.

Joseph was playing air guitar with a broom during chores and missed G chord and put a hole in the window. The amount he owes is being decided.

At the Boys and Girls Club there was a friendly game of football and one child threw too long and the ball went through the window and kept going. A search party was sent to find the child. The Boys and Girls Club was sued for faulty window, and is now forever closed.

There is a serious outbreak of headlights across the school. Students are advised to wear hats to school.

Sincerely (or not),
Mandala School

April fools! The children that worked on this including; Ethan, Charlie, and Joseph.