Georgie & Inti are proud of their finished puzzle

In music class we did a sound scavenger hunt. We had to find low pitch sounds, woody sounds, high pitches, long and short sounds, and metallic sounds. We had to find 11 sounds altogether. As we found different sounds we had to write them down.

In math we started by experimenting with poking holes into a plastic container full of water. Water came out some of the holes, while from some of the holes the water stayed in the container. We assumed it had something to do with pressure so each of us were split into groups of 2 and we started finding the area of the bottom of the container. Elena and I got 148cm while everyone else got around 160-180. We added all the numbers and divided by 6 which was the amount of answers to get the average which was 177cm<sup>2</sup> we used a food scale to determine the weight of the entire container with the water and then we divided it to find out that 18g of pressure were on each cm<sup>2</sup>. the reason I think the water sometimes didn't pour out was because the air pressure outside of the container. The student of the week this week was Inti, Inti is 7 years old and loves panthers because they are very strong. Inti sees his best friend, Georgie, as a role model because he makes Inti feel comfortable. His favorite color is orange. Inti loves learning about apples and especially likes the green ones. The playground is one of Inti's favorite places at school along with Hamlin Park. Inti would like to learn more about buffalos, the animal. Inti's favorite food is candy and his preferred candy is all of them. At home, he likes to ride his roller blades. Inti says he is really good at it. Inti's favorite thing about school is hanging out with his friends. Inti is a very kind and respectful kid. We think he will grow up to be a very successful person.

Thank you to Bryce's family for providing your apples for our school. The youngest group made observations, compared and contrasted the inside and the outside, drew what they saw on the inside, learned the parts of an apple, and, of course, tasted them!
