

Mandala School Newsletter
Volume XVIII Issue XII
December 12, 2025

Student of the Week: Stella
Stella has been going to Mandala for three years now, she started coming here when she was ten years old. If Stella could add any class to Mandala it would be astronomy. Stella likes writing because she enjoys story telling and it sends her into her own magical world. Outside of school, Stella loves to play video games and spending time with her family, especially her cousin Rose. She also has one russian dwarf hamster named Hamilton. She recently went on her fifth trip to NYC by train, she saw a musical on broadway called "& Juliet", visited Rockefeller center, went to the Museum of Ice Cream, and finally the museum of natural history.

The older students have begun a unit on outer space. They are studying constellations. Today Jasper shared about Taurus and Owen shared about the Big Dipper. We will hear more next week!

In music we learned about a holiday called Hanukkah. We sang a song called "I Have a Little Dreidel."

The first day of Hanukkah is Monday. Happy Hanukkah!

Petey beginning a volume unit in math

Friday workshops today included wood burning, collage trees, computer programming, rock painting, and ornament making!

